It is a well-known tradition of the Ancient people that this seed is a cure for any disease except death. Since then, this miracle plant has drawn the attention of millions of people around the world. Not only has it been used by millions and millions of people to successfully cure chronic and acute conditions, it has recently also drawn the attention of scientific research. Many studies, both in the East and the West, have been conducted to investigate the positive effects of the herb on diseases. There have been studies which support the anecdotal evidence of patients who have cured their conditions with the seed. Yet, there is still a need to further investigate the possible clinical use of the miracle herb in treating the most complicated conditions. As mentioned earlier, there is not limit to the list of diseases it can be used for the treatment of several ailments. For every disease, God sent a cure. The following list contains only some of the very common conditions that black...
