Excerpt from Current Developments in the Farm Real Estate Market: March-July 1960 Market values of farm real estate remained essentially unchanged in about half the States in the 4 months ended July 1, 1960. At 172 (1947-49 the index was 1 percent above a year earlier. However, declines of 2 percent or more in 14 States were sufficient to reduce the national index by 1 point percent) from the March level. The indexes for 11 States reached new peaks this July, with increases of 5 to 6 percent for the year. Largest declines, averaging about 3 percent, occurred in Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota. The total market value of farm real estate was estimated at billion, or per acre, on July 1, 1960. This was $300 million percent) less than the value on March 1, but billion more than on July 1, 1959. The leveling off in market values in the last year is probably a readjustment in the unusual relationship that has developed since 1954 between market values and farm income. Values increased by a third in a period when net income changed very little. As a result, the price of farm real estate is currently about times net income per acre, whereas in 1950-54, the ratio was and in 1935-39, Active farmers made 63 percent of all purchases of farm real estate in 1959-60, a slightly higher proportion than in the previous year. Tenants continued to decline in relative importance as buyers, but owner-operators bought a higher proportion. Nonfarmers accounted for about a third of all purchases, slightly less than in the 4 previous years. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
