At the heart of the fascination is the most visited and the most spectacular of Late Classic Maya cities: Chichn Itz. Chichn Itz was inhabited for hundreds of years and was a very influential center in the later years of Maya civilization. At its height, Chichn Itz may have had over 30, 000 inhabitants, and with a spectacular pyramid, enormous ball court, observatory and several temples, the builders of this city exceeded even those at Uxmal in developing the use of columns and exterior relief decoration. Of particular interest at Chichn Itz is the sacred cenote, a sinkhole was a focus for Maya rituals around water. Because adequate supplies of water, which rarely collected on the surface of the limestone based Yucatan, were essential for adequate agricultural production, the Maya here considered it of primary importance. Underwater archaeology carried out in the cenote at Chichn Itz revealed that offerings to the Maya rain deity Chaac (which may have included people) were tossed into the sinkhole. Early Mayapn was closely connected to the overshadowing power of the region at the time: the mighty trading city of Chichn Itz. Mayapn emerged first as a minor settlement in the orbit of Chichn, but it slowly came to replace it after the larger citys trade connections with the Toltecs of Tula crumbled and it...
